Additional Information

It's a job within a very nice company where all the drivers are well respected and treated well by other colleagues and the owner of the company also. It's possible to work 55 hours within 4 working days and have a day free extra during the week or work more than 55 hours over 5 working days and for the ones that are very diligent, they can also work on Saturday, which is paid 150%. From December there is a short brake in which we try to organize another job or the driver can possibly (if worked for 26 weeks) get a 3 month salary from the Dutch government, a so called W.W. (Werkeloosheids uitkering). We can arrange housing and insurance, both for about € 100,- net/week. The driver than is insured in whole Europe and can use (and even his family when paid a little extra) medical help anywhere in Europe. It's not an hard job, but the driver must be 'quick thinking and acting' and have good communicative skills (English or German). Work starts mostly between 6.00 and 9.00 AM. Start of the job is immediately.
