

Frontend Developer

– York (UK) - £35,000/annum -

- Location: Yorkshire & Humberside
- Salary: £25000 - £40000 per annum + Benefits
- Job type: Permanent

Are you a talented frontend developer wanting to work for a leading company?

Our client is a market leading company based in York. You will be joining a successful development team to help develop current and existing projects.

They have experienced massive recent growth, and working as a front end developer for this company will ensure a lot of visibility, with a fantastic benefits package including an on-site gym, free parking and on site nursery.

Due to the nature of the role, it is important that the frontend developer is used to working on multiple projects simultaneously, as the developer will be expected to work both as part of a team and autonomously.

Our client uses a variety of technologies, if you have the following skills then great:

Essential:

- OOP
- HTML5/CSS3
- AngularJS
- MySQL

- Git
- SASS/LESS

Desired:

- PHP/Laravel
- Experience in a version controlled environment
- Strong communication skills

For the right front end developer my client is willing to pay a generous starting salary of between £25,000-£40,000 per annum.
