

Radiology Specialist Doctor

SWEDEN

Radiology

County Hospital in Kalmar, Kalmar county

Training requirements

Specialist in Radiology

Experience required

You have to have worked continuously with radiology as a specialist in the past three years. (It is a must)

Competences and skills that are particularly important for the position

You have to master the assessment of all commonly occurring issues on CT, ordinary X-ray and ultrasound.

Both acute and not acute. (It is a must)

You have to master assessment of examinations of children including lungs on neonatal children, assessment of navel catheter position, ultrasound of child-brain, skeleton injury issues, appendicitis with ultrasound. (It is a must)

Preparedness and on-call duties

The clinic does not have on-call duty, only preparedness. All permanent employees have the possibility of a workstation at home which allows remote work during the preparedness. We have two different levels of preparedness:

Preparedness A (30 minutes reporting time)

Preparedness B (two hours reporting time)

Office hours are Monday-Thursday 07.30-16.30, Friday 07.30-15.30.

Out of office hours we usually have a trainee doctor in Preparedness A (mainly on site at the clinic) and a specialist in Preparedness B (mainly from home). Alternatively, a specialist in Preparedness A.

We have an agreement with a remote survey firm that takes over the main responsibility between 22.00- 07.30. During this time we have a specialist in Preparedness A for the necessary interventions.

As a specialist, both preparedness A and B included, but the majority of Preparedness A should be covered by trainee doctors.

Other requirements

You have to participate in the supervision of doctors in education.

You have to have good cooperative ability with other doctors, also when working with other specialities over a case.

You have to show good treatment of patients as well as relatives and colleagues.

MRI competence, CEUS competence, CT and ultrasound-guided biopsy competence would be an asset. (It is not a must but an advantage to have these skills.)

You should master nephrostomy installation, ascites drain, pleura drain and abscess drainage. (Not a must but required.) Interest and personality of candidate has to be fit for the clinic and the city. If he / she has a family, so it is very important that the whole family can imagine to be integrated in Kalmar. From that reason it is very important what sort of profession the partner has. It is important that the candidate has thought through moving to Sweden thoroughly before going to study-tour in Kalmar. Personal particulars are very important.

Description of the current clinic / health centre

The radiology clinic in Kalmar is a workplace where size and tradition allow you to maintain a wide range of general diagnostic skills. For example, all permanently employed specialists are independent as for the installation of nephrostomy and we have experience in taking care of specialists who have come to us and who have not had this experience. At the same time, there is the opportunity to develop excellence. For example, ultrasound is performed with contrast and ablation treatment of kidney tumours by the doctors who have such an interest. You are also encouraged to focus on organic areas and all common organ / subspecialist areas in radiology have responsible head-doctors. We believe quality is important, which we are working hard on. For example, we have an after-review for everything except ultrasound and elective ordinary X-ray assessed by a specialist.

All permanent employees have the opportunity to work at home and we have doctors working part-time from home and abroad.

We are interested in strengthening our academic side and therefore look forward to ambitions for research.
